back to work, says Zomato founder

Max's laboratory diagnostic business, which currently meets in-house demand, has revenues of ₹400 crore while for the home care business it is ₹70 crore. The strategy after spinning them off is to build a retail business model on it. The move is part of a restructuring exercise by its new owners, who had bought a 49.7 per cent stake in Max Healthcare.

Radiant is in the process of demerging its health care business into Max Healthcare.

On the other hand, the non-health care business in listed company Max India is being demerged and the residual company will be merged with Max Healthcare.

The merged entity will invest ₹2,000 crore to have 1,900 beds in its hospital assets in three to three and a half years. That will include adding accruals. The net debt of the proposed merged entity is ₹1,287 crore (till September 2018) and an additional ₹870 crore will be raised.

Radiant also owns Mumbai's Nanavati as well as Delhi's B.L. Kapur Hospital, which it had acquired earlier.

MAX is also looking at truncating or closing down of some of its centres (mostly day-care centres) in the National Capital Region. Currently Max has 16 of them, including nine large hospitals and day-centres. Speaking on the plan, Soi, who is chairman of the board and the executive council in Max Healthcare and co-promoter of Radiant, said: "Our aim in Max is to raise the Ebitda (earnings before interest, taxation, depreciation, and amortisation) margins from 13 per cent to 15-16 per cent. This is a great opportunity to do it in two years."

With the acquisition of Max, Radiant has become the third-largest hospital in the country with revenue of ₹3,443 crore (FY18).

only Apollo and Fortis has more than 3,246 hospitals, making it the largest in the pecking order.

Soi said the merged company would enter NE with a hub strategy means one big hospital with 400-500 beds. There are smaller hospitals are 200-300 beds smaller than that.

The merged entity is at setting up offices in national markets like Nigeria and Sudan. African countries can offer patients "fly" services to our hospitals.

refinery in Gujarat's vadinar. The refinery has annual crude oil throughput of 20 million tonnes, importing it from various regions.

Nayara is continually looking wards expansion into petrochemical units, and contributing towards the development of the Devbhumi Dwarka district in Gujarat as a petrochemicals hub," said Anand.

Speaking on the plan to restructure Max Abhay Soi, who is currently the chairman of the board and executive council in Max Healthcare and the co-promoter of Radiant, said: "Our aim in Max is to bring the Ebitda margins from 13 per cent to 16 per cent. We think it is a great time to look for opportunities for acquisition of hospitals at the right price and we are looking at a pipe-only metros with a high equity which means one hospital that would be in the sale of his shares in beds. Then they will his settlement with the smaller hospitals, which chain.

The merged entity look at setting up an international market include Nigeria and its and other African markets that it can offer a "direct to fly" service of their hospitals. So, it is important to have as it increases the amongst for a patient family and also associated with medical visas and payment gateways.
